Our procedures include:

- Training everyone who makes JUST products in allergen safety.
- Having specific allergen control procedures.
- Keeping egg products away from equipment being used for JUST, and when shared equipment is used, testing each batch for traces of egg.
- Cleaning all equipment used for our product before it is made using a procedure proven to remove traces of egg.
- Inspecting the equipment to make sure it is clean.
- Testing equipment surfaces in key areas before processing starts.
- Testing the first packaged product of each run.
- No product is released to the market until all testing is completed.

As JUST grows we expect to have lines, and perhaps facilities that are fully dedicated to manufacturing JUST Egg. Until then we are working to assure that JUST Egg is a great alternative to conventional eggs. We work closely with our manufacturing partners to prevent any traces of egg in our product. JUST Egg does not contain any egg ingredients but is made in facilities where other egg products are manufactured.
